The Ballast Water Management Summit 2015 is the first of a number of planned 'hot topic' events to be organized by Newsfront / Naftiliaki, under the auspices of MARTECMA

With the Ballast Water Management Convention set to enter into force, interest of shipowners and their technical directors in the convention is at a high level and Newsfront / Naftiliaki has been asked to organise an event exclusively to review the overall status of BWM.

This event, to be held in Athens, March 31, will provide equipment manufacturers, classification societies and ship operators with the opportunity to interactively discuss installation on newbuildings and retrofits, looking at the pros and cons of the various systems, the role of port state control inspections, and the wide range of implementation issues during the type approval process.
